

How to use the Zoom interpretation service during the Symposium

Real-time translation services will be available for certain sessions (Session III to VII – see programme for details). When the service becomes available a new Interpretation button (globe icon) will automatically appear on the lower toolbar of the application, along with a short notification.

Please click on Interpretation and select either English, Japanese or スペイン語 (transl. ‘Spanish’ in Japanese) to start listening to the live interpretation (all other participants will be muted for you). Selecting Off will end the translation for you, allowing you to listen to all participants voices once again.

Important: The translation option is only available to participants joining the meeting through the Zoom application. It does not work if you select to ‘Join Via Your Browser’ without downloading the application at your PC.
